Regina S. Johnson is a partner with BBC LAW, LLP with decades of experience representing both plaintiffs and defendants as a civil litigation attorney. Currently, Regina concentrates her practice on defending clients against claims related to commercial motor vehicle accidents, liquor liability, premises liability, personal injury, product liability and general liability claims. Regina has extensive experience navigating the complexities of personal injury and product liability cases having managed hundreds of complex cases in both Pennsylvania, New Jersey and numerous federal courts to successful resolution.

Regina is a graduate of the College of the Holy Cross and Seton Hall University School of Law, where she earned her law degree. She also earned an LLM in Health Law from Widener University School of Law. Regina is admitted to practice law in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. She is also admitted into the United States District Court of New Jersey and the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

When she is not practicing law, Regina is an avid sports enthusiast, following her sons' exploits on the gridiron. She is an active member of the Princeton University Football Association and a co-chair of the Princeton Football Parents' Committee.
